

Knox Spadina
Photo Directory

2005

The worship service was about to begin. A man sitting near the front was wearing a very large hat. An usher walked down the aisle and quietly asked the man to remove his hat. Getting no response, the usher summoned one of the elders and made the same request – and got the same results. The request was repeated by the president of the women’s association – but the hat remained on the man’s head.

When the opening hymn began, the man stood up, removed his hat, and didn’t put it on again. After the service, the usher confronted the man, asking why he hadn’t removed his hat sooner. “I’ve been attending this church for two months,” he said, “and nobody has ever tried to get acquainted with me. But today, I’ve met an usher, an elder, and the president of the women’s group!!”

Fortunately, that kind of thing hasn’t happened at Knox, as far as I know. However it does point out the need to work at welcoming and greeting one another when we gather together. The ministry of practicing Christian hospitality extends far beyond a friendly smile and greeting a person by name – but it surely begins there. That’s why I’m so excited about this new photo directory for Knox. Use it to get to know your fellow worshippers. Use it as a means to pray more informatively for one another. Use it to foster fellowship in our life together. I extend a special thanks to the team who put this together: Carol Herd, Don Nicol and Les and Myrna Talbot; and to all of you who consented to putting your picture in the directory.

Yours in Christ,

Kevin Livingston
